

INVESTIGATING THE WORLD ONE SOURCE AT A TIME

A PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT OPPORTUNITY IN THE SOCIAL SCIENCES

Program Application

Application Due: Friday, March 09 by email to Joanna Neilson joanna.neilson@lmuent.edu

Lincoln Memorial University's Hamilton School of Arts and Sciences, Lincoln Memorial University's Carter and Moyers School of Education, and the Clinch-Powell Educational Cooperative

We are pleased to offer a year-long professional development opportunity for high school Social Studies teachers focused on the new Tennessee state Social Studies standards. This program includes an online learning component, a Summer Institute on the LMU Harrogate Campus, and the opportunity to develop a unit of study using the ideas and skills developed in the program. Stipends provided for all events on the Harrogate campus (one Focus Group, an Online Portal Introduction workshop, and the Summer Institute).

We will hold two Focus Groups (Saturday, February 24 and Saturday, March 03). These Focus Groups are your opportunity to tell us what content you would like to see in the online portion and the Summer Institute. We want your feedback! Participation in one Focus Group is not required but recommended. A stipend is available for attending one (1) Focus Group, but not both.
